Orlando Chapter Active, Carrying on Varied Events

Progress has been made recently in the section of the Alumni Association that serves the graduates of the Division of Nursing.

Recently, the executive committee of the Alumni Association voted to accept the '58 Florida campus graduates as full-fledged alumni. This recommendation will be acted upon at the Homecoming, October 9-10.

According to Miss Genevive Bowman, recording secretary of the Florida Sanitarium Division of Nursing Alumni Association, there are several things that the graduates of nursing will want to know about or to participate in as follows:

1. Keeping a current record of names and addresses of graduates. Please keep us and her up to date on your moves and change of name.
2. Let us know about yourself, your family, your work and your courage in the Lord's work. Write to the Office Secretary, Southern Missionary College, Division of Nursing, 711 Lake Estelle, Drive, Orlando, Florida 32803, and to SMC Alumni Association, SMC, Collegedale, Tenn. 37315.
3. Pass on to these offices news of you and your family.
4. Helping to complete our "hall of fame." We need class pictures of the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital graduating classes for the years 1913 to 1938, inclusive, except 1932 and 1933. We also need a picture of the class of 1955. From graduates of the Southern Missionary College Division of Nursing, we need pictures of the classes of 1961, 1962, 1963 and 1964. If class pictures were not taken, please send a graduation photograph of yourself (which will be returned) in uniform so we can have a composite picture made. Be sure to let us know your maiden name and the year of your graduation. There is expense involved in preparing composites. A dollar or two sent along with your picture will help to finance this project. If you have classmates, or alumni friends whom you feel may not receive this paper, please contact them in behalf of our efforts.

5. Let us know when you are in the vicinity of Orlando. We want you to visit your alma mater.
6. Building up a strong Alumni Association. Never has there been a time when our efforts were needed more than now. The advance of education in fields of the sciences which affect medicine—and thus, nursing—has left many of us far behind. If we wish to give maximum help, we must endeavor to keep informed. If you live within driving distance, please come to your Alumni meetings held the last Monday of each month — October through May, in the Assembly Room of the Nurses' Residence Hall. The programs, when started promptly, can be finished by 9:00 P.M. It is our aim to plan programs which offer review of techniques, new drugs, methods, practices and concepts. Socialization is also provided by opening the evening's program at 6:30 P.M. with a pot-luck supper. Be in "the know." Be a "regular."

The campus of SMC should look like this artist's conception by 1970, according to Dr. C. N. Rees, SMC's president.

PE Center New Addition To Campus Expansion

By J. DON CROOK, *President
Alumni Association*

The artist's conception gives an idea of how the campus will look in 1970. It has a mall at the main entrance, leading up to the proposed administration building. On one side of the mall is the Women's Residence Hall; on the other side of the mall the Men's Residence Hall will be built.

The shopping center, in the lower right-hand corner of the picture, has been completed, and just beyond it the proposed Fine Arts Center will be built.

The new church has recently been completed, and a corner of it can be seen on the left of the picture.

It is hoped, according to Dr. C. N. Rees, SMC's president, that the entire program will be completed by 1970.

Miss Wood Helps On Alumni Lists

Miss Mable Wood, assistant professor of music, is assisting the Alumni Association in bringing its address lists up to date.

Everyone who is on the mailing list for the SMC Alumni Bulletin is being checked to see if he was a graduate of Southern Missionary College or of Southern Junior College, and, if not, is being taken off the lists. However, the Bulletin is being mailed to certain persons who get complimentary copies as a matter of information for them.

It is also highly desired that the Alumni office receive any change of address as quickly as possible so the lists can be kept up to date.

H. S. MILLER

Harry Sylvester Miller, science teacher at Southern Training School in 1905, died at Roseburg, Oregon, May 13, 1965.

In 1907 he was ordained to the ministry. He was called to Oshawa Missionary College in 1915, and he became Bible instructor at Canadian Junior College in 1921. In 1926 he became head of the Bible Department at Southwestern Junior College, where he remained until 1941. He taught Bible at Ozark Academy, was pastor of the Jefferson, Texas, church, and continued as a leader in as many as five small churches in western Oregon after his retirement.

Chapter officers are the following: Norman Gulley '55, president; Robert Burchard '59, vice-president; Barbara Holland '62, secretary-treasurer.

Their first meeting was scheduled for November 6, 1965. For one of their projects they plan to tape a short report of the work in Japan to let Southern Missionary College know what a few of its alumni are doing in the Far East.

We are very happy with the organization of another new chapter, making the Alumni Association an ever-expanding organization.

Found a tan leather key case after Alumni Weekend with General Motors keys in it. Someone said that these keys went with a light green, late model Pontiac that was parked at SMC during the Alumni Weekend. If these are your keys, please write William H. Taylor, P. O. Tax Credits Would Cut Costs

By Dr. O. C. Carmichael, Jr.

A plan designed to ease the financial burden of parents of college students and to create new sources for the establishment of scholarships is receiving increasing attention and support from both educators and legislators.

The concept of granting tax credits for some expenses of higher education has had bipartisan backing in both houses of Congress for more than a decade, but has never been enacted into law.

Now there are signs that a tuition tax credit measure may pass in the current session of the 89th Congress.

In 1964, a bill introduced by Senators Abraham A. Ribicoff, D., Conn., and Peter H. Dominick, R., Colo., and co-sponsored by thirty-five senators of both parties failed passage by the narrow margin of 48 votes to 45. The bill has been reintroduced in the present Congress.

During recent weeks added support for tax credit legislation has come from such groups as the Young Republican Federation and the House Republican Conference.

Educators, too, are demonstrating strong backing for the measure. Interim results of a poll being conducted by the Citizens National Committee for Higher Education (CNCHE) of South Bend, Indiana, show that more than 89 percent of college presidents and trustees responding favor the principles embodied in tuition tax credit.

Educational organizations voicing support for the principle include the Association of American Colleges and the Citizens for Educational Freedom.

The tuition tax credit concept stems from widespread concern over the mounting costs of tuition and fees at both private and publicly supported colleges and universities. Proponents of the measure note that costs have been rising at an increasing rate, and that all evidence indicates that they will continue to do so.

The reason, they point out, is that increased enrollments, necessary increases in faculty salaries, and general increases in expenses have forced annual operating budgets sharply upward. The increased budgets have been mirrored almost universally in alarming rises in the cost of a college education to the student and his family.

Tuition tax credit was conceived to relieve financial pressure on persons paying for college educations and to reduce the threat of students being priced off the campus.

The measure would permit a credit against the Federal income tax of persons paying for tuition, fees, and other essential expenses of college students.

Advocates of the plan emphasize the difference between a tax credit and a tax deduction. Each dollar of credit would reduce a person's tax by one dollar. If a taxpayer owed $1,000 at the end of the tax year and had qualified for a $400 tax credit, he would owe the Federal Government only $600 in income tax. A $400 tax credit would save exactly $400 for the individual whether he earned $5,000 a year or $20,000.

A deduction, on the other hand, would save a $20,000-a-year man more tax dollars than a $5,000-a-year man.

The Ribicoff-Dominick measure—typical of the many tax credit bills put forth by members of both houses in recent years—is based on the first $1,500 paid for tuition, fees, books, and supplies per student at an institution of higher learning.

The amount of credit would be 75 percent of the first $200 spent, 25 percent of the next $300, and 10 percent of the next $1,000. The maximum credit allowable would be $325.

The tax credit would come to anyone—student, relative, friend, or benefactor—paying the educational costs. Broad assistance in support of the most needy students could, therefore, be generated by the colleges and universities themselves.

In addition, scholarship-holding students from middle-income families could reduce their scholarships to the extent that they received tax credits. This would permit institutions to make more generous and more selective use of increasingly inadequate scholarship funds.

Opposition to tuition tax credit has come from several quarters. Much has been based on a lack of understanding about differences between a tax deduction—which would tend to favor higher-income taxpayers—and a tax credit—which would save the lower and middle-income taxpayer a higher proportional share of his income.

Similarly, some opposition has been based on the fact that the measure would not help those with incomes too low to necessitate payment of Federal income taxes. Advocates point out that just because a measure helps many people does not imply that it hurts others, that other methods exist to help low-income people, and that, in fact, millions of dollars of scholarship money could be both liberated and generated by the measure to help students of limited means.

Finally, there has been some opposition on the grounds that benefits would be greater for students at higher-priced private colleges than at the lower-cost state universities. The percentage of relief would be higher at the publicly supported institutions, which are, in any case, increasing their own tuitions dramatically, and are frequently charging out-of-state students nearly as much as private colleges.

Increased understanding of the merits of tuition tax credit is reflected in the results of the continuing CNCHE survey. Of 3,248 respondents of the initial mailing, 2,895 indicate that they favor the principles of the measure.

Trustees of private institutions support tax credit 1,954 to 135, with 38 undecided. Trustees of state institutions favor the measure 305 to 67, with 3 undecided.

Presidents of private colleges and universities are in support by 595 to 44, with 9 undecided, and 42 of 99 presidents of public institutions favor the concept.

Further information on tuition tax credits may be obtained by writing to Citizens National Committee for Higher Education, Inc., P. O. Box 2122, South Bend, Indiana 46615.

CHAPTERS HOLD MEETINGS

The SMC Alumni Association has been very active this year with many chapters holding meetings.

SMC Graduate, Lt. C. H. Giles, Saves Young Girl

Lt. Charles H. Giles, a doctor with the U. S. Public Health Service stationed in Washington, D. C., saved the life of an 8 year old girl on July 24.

The car in which the girl was riding, along with her mother, sister and brother, went off the George Washington Memorial Parkway and plunged into the Potomac River.

Lt. Giles saw the accident, stopped his car and began swimming toward the survivors who were struggling to hang onto a limb.

He gripped the girl and pulled her to shore and applied rescue techniques to restore the girl's breathing. The sister and brother could not be revived, but the mother was pulled to safety.

Lt. Giles is married to Elaine M. Sullivan, both 1961 graduates.

Southern California

At the January 20 meeting Dr. C. N. Rees, SMC's president, showed pictures of the new buildings on the campus and talked with the Association about the growth and progress of the college.
